Body found in Logtown

BY RICHARD MEEK

The body of a man found in a shallow grave Sunday by a hunter remained unidentified as of Wednesday, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.

Peterson said the body is believed to be that of a black male, although he said the height, weight and age are undetermined.

Peterson said a squirrel hunter stumbled across the grave Sunday near Logtown Road. All that remained of the body were the skull, bones and a full set of teeth, four of which were gold and two of which contained diamond stars. Peterson said the bones have been removed from the site and a medical team is attempting to reconstruct the body to determine height, weight, and possible cause of death.

"Our biggest concern is identification," Peterson said.

The sheriff said foul play was definitely involved, bringing to two the number of murders in Hancock County this year. In September, a teenage girl was arrested after she allegedly killed her teenage brother.

Last year, the county recorded only one murder.

Coastal Health director resigns; committee will decide center's fate

BY ED LEPOMA

The head of Coastal Family Health Center resigned effective Saturday, leaving a decision on whether to reopen its clinic in Hancock County in the hands of a committee.

Shanks, who has served as Coastal's Executive Director since 1982, gave no reasons for resigning effective Nov. 4, but her letter to the staff which the Echo acquired said, "At this point, my heart and conscience lead me away from the Center; but my thoughts and prayers will always be with you."

Janet Aime, the Hancock County member of Coastal's Board of Directors, confirmed that Henry Endt, a former board member, is now serving as Coastal's interim director.

Shanks salary was $70,000 annually, but Aime said she did not know if Endt was being paid a salary as interim director, and calls to Board President Sister Martha Milner were not returned.

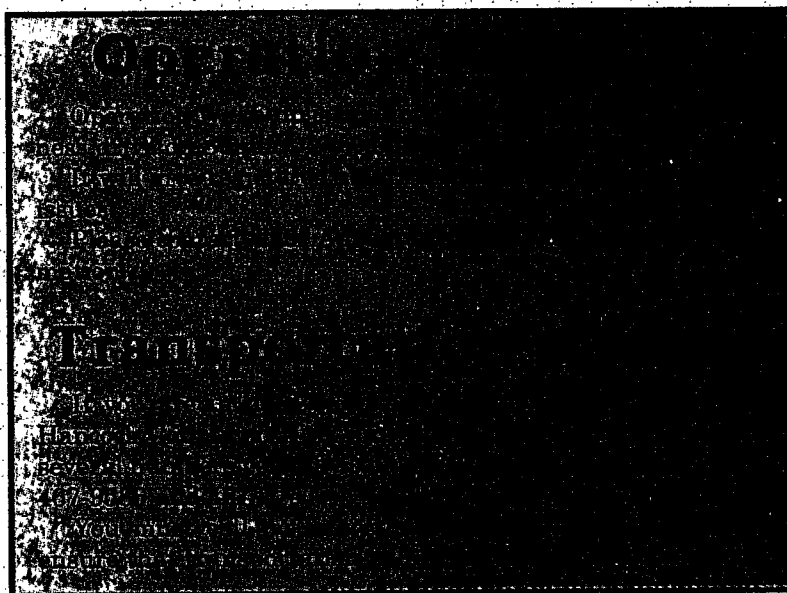

Aime said Shanks' resignation "greatly saddened me."

"I have worked with her for over six years and she is one of the most dedicated, hard working, knowledgeable and professional people I've ever had the opportunity to know," said Aime.

On the possibility of reopening the clinic here, Aime said her main concern would be the quality of health care that would be delivered.

"I want to make sure that if we reopen the clinic with one

Vandals nabbed in Logtown

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Quick action by Hancock County deputies averted extensive vandalism in the Logtown Cemetery Halloween night.

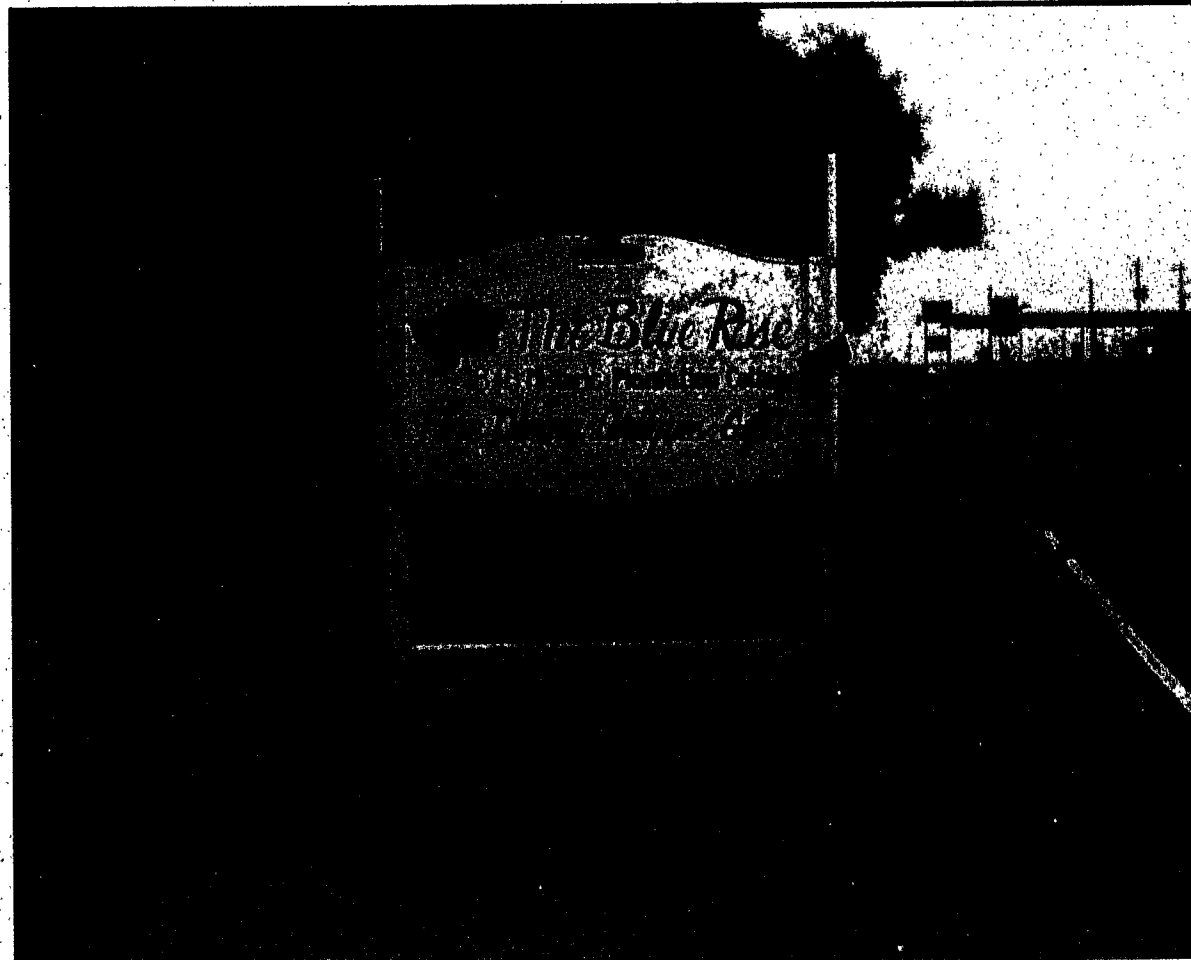

"We heard a lot of rumors of planned vandalism, especially in the Pearlinton area and we had extra deputies on duty," Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.

Peterson continued, "Really, we had a very quiet night compared to other Halloweens."

Deputy Corky Hoda, one of several in the Pearlinton area said, "There was a carload of juveniles from Louisiana and they were prepared to do damage to headstones in the Pearlinton Cemetery, as they had two cans of spray paint. Before they could get started, we detained them."

Hoda said one juvenile was detained and turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court with charges of possession of a weapon. Four others

Pass mayor vetoes ordinance

BY ED LEPOMA

Mayor Billy McDonald last week vetoed controversial ordinances dealing with signs and historical preservation in Pass Christian.

The Mayor, who was elected only last Oct. 3 to an unexpired term, said he has not had adequate time to review the legislation.

"But, really and truly, the number of telephone calls I've been getting from not only downtown merchants, but people in general, have been overwhelmingly against these ordinances," McDonald said.

He said he disagreed with the Aldermen, who passed the ordinances during an Oct. 17 meeting, and said the legislation could be amended later "to get the kinks out."

"That's not the time to do it," said McDonald.

In his veto message to City

Jubilee to reach Greenville today; Cotton Club prepares for move

BY ED LEPOMA

The Jubilee Casino barge is expected to dock at its new berth in Greenville, Miss., early today, and the boat it is to replace will head for Bayou Caddy in Lakeshore.

An official of Alpha Hospitality Corp., of New York, also announced a series of transactions he said will "substantially reduce" the company's financial obligations in the long-term.

About 24 hours prior to Jubilee's arrival, Alpha's corporate vice president Sandy Freedman issued a press release announcing Alpha had bought out stockholders of the Cotton Club boat. No purchase price was given, but Freedman said "consideration for the stock acquisition consisted of cash, notes and stock of the company."

Warren Strain, public information director with the Mississippi State Gaming Commission, said two agents from the staff will be aboard the Cotton Club this morning when the Jubilee arrives at Lake Ferguson to take its place.

"Gaming Officials have made it clear, in no uncertain terms, that they must fulfill all obligations of their agreement before they can move that vessel one inch," said Strain.

The Cotton Club vessel, its slot machine and other equipment aboard and the adjacent parking lot has been valued at $13 million, and assessed a total $284,000 in property taxes for 1995.

Under an agreement worked out with the Washington County tax assessor, Alpha, which now owns the paddlewheeler, is required to post a surety bond to guarantee payment of the 1995 taxes, which will be due next February.

George Slade, the attorney who was hired by the Washington County Board of Supervisors, was not available to confirm that Alpha has posted the required bond, although Strain said it was his understanding a bond had been secured.

The Cotton Club gambling boat closed early Tuesday morning, sources at the Greenville Delta-Democrat Times said, and its 550 workforce was told the Jubilee barge would reopen as early as Nov. 21.

In its press release, Alpha said, "The company believes that the transfer of its Bayou Caddy gaming vessel to Greenville will enable that operation to compete most successfully in that growing market."

It added, "The Lakeshore market will be enhanced by further development of onshore facilities and infrastructure which will be completed within the next 12 months."

Strain told the Echo that Alpha has proposed to build a new shored-side restaurant and a special-events building at Bayou Caddy, which would be connected to the Cotton Club by a skywalk. He said no conceptual drawings were made available to the Gaming Commission at this time.

Freedman said that Alpha's operating subsidiary, Alpha Gulf Coast Inc., has renegotiated its lease with the family of Michael Cure, who owns the property at Bayou Caddy.

"The existing ground lease has been amended to reduce the rent due under the lease from six percent of the casino's gross revenue to approximately three and one-half percent," the release said.

"In addition, the landlord has also agreed to grant the company's subsidiary two options to extend the ground lease for a total of 10 years after the expiration of the original term of the lease in 2011," the release said.

Freedman also said Alpha had successfully renegotiated terms with the holder of the first ship's mortgage on the Jubilee Casino barge and with Bally Gaming, Inc., which held subordinate security interests in the vessel.

"Consequently, notices of default, which had been served on the company's operating subsidiary (Alpha Gulf Coast) by the original holder of the first preferred ship mortgage and Bally have been withdrawn," Freedman said. "The marketing agreement executed with an affiliate of the original holder of the first mortgage has been terminated and the interest rate on the first mortgage loan has been adjusted to reflect the termination of the marketing agreement."

"As a result, the obligations of the company and its subsidiary have been substantially reduced," he said.

Freedman added that both lenders have consented to the relocation of the Bayou Caddy vessel to Greenville.

The Jubilee barge closed down operations the morning of Oct. 25, and left its berth at Bayou Caddy sometime after 7 p.m. Saturday.

Before it could leave Hancock County, Alpha was required to post surety bonds totaling $403,000 for the amount it still owes in 1994 property taxes and for 1995 property taxes that will be due in February of 1996.

The majority of Jubilee's 660 employees have been temporarily laid off until the new boat reopens. Those employees began filing unemployment insurance claims last week.

Jubilee officials have promised a "minimal turnover of employees" once the Cotton Club relocates to Lakeshore.

They have also promised employees would retain seniority and will be provided health coverage while they are furloughed.

The Gaming Commission did not set opening dates for either of the two casinos, but Alpha officials said they hope to open the Jubilee in Greenville around Nov. 21.

The Cotton Club is expected to open in Lakeshore sometime later.

Amendments on Nov. ballot

Mississippi voters will decide the fate of two constitutional amendments at the polls on Nov. 7.

The two proposed amendments passed both houses of the 1995 Mississippi Legislature by the required two-thirds margin and now go before voters in the general election.

Amendment No. 1 (House Concurrent Resolution 40): "This proposed constitutional amendment creates a new section of the Constitution to prohibit any court of this state from ordering the state, a political subdivision of the state or any officer or employee to levy or increase taxes."

Amendment No. 2 (House Concurrent Resolution 42): "This proposed constitutional amendment provides that bail may be denied to any person charged with a capital offense when that person previously has been convicted of a capital offense or any other offense punishable by imprisonment for a maximum of 20 years or more. The amendment also requires bail revocation for a person charged with a felony if that person commits certain other felonies pending trial."

Both amendments would become part of the Mississippi Constitution if they receive a majority of the votes cast.

In addition to the two constitutional amendments, voters will also vote on initiative Measure No. 4. The proposed initiative would establish term limits for all elected and appointed officials in Mississippi.

In order to become law, the initiative must receive a majority of votes cast on the issue and at least 40 percent of the total votes cast in the election.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is my understanding there have been some questions about animal control in Hancock County.

Residents need to know that there is a strong ordinance in the county for the area south of Interstate 10 dealing with dogs and cats running loose.

This was due to a Senate and House Bill passed by our recent Legislature.

This bill was enforced by a resolution passed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in May, 1995.

Dog and cat owners south of Interstate 10 need to control their animals, or the county dog warden has the duty by law to collect dogs and cats running loose.

Residents of the county need to be aware of the above.

It is my understanding some teenagers from the Slidell area tried to do some mischief at the Logtown Cemetery Halloween night, and they were nabbed by Hancock County deputies.

I can will never understand how someone would want to mess with the grave of anyone.

I am glad that group was nabbed by the arm of the law.

I hope each and everyone of you had a wonderful Halloween.

Even with the threat of rain there appeared to have been a large crowd about the area trick-or-treating.

I had a great time helping the Hancock County Historical Society's Cedar Rest Cemetery Tour.

The only problem was that I just about lost my voice after three hours of talking.

My talk was a bit long, and I had to cut it short several times. Some requested I run it in my column today.

So here is my portrayal:

"...I will be addressing you as my great-grandfather James A. Cuevas.

I was born at Cat Island on Feb. 28, 1838 and died at age 90 on Sept. 3, 1928. My father, Raymond Cuevas, was the youngest of 11 children and moved to Shieldsborough (Bay St. Louis) in 1849 from Cat Island. We lived on Beach Boulevard west of the brothers' school which was established four years later.

I am buried here alongside my father who was born in 1812 at Cat Island and died June 18, 1869.

I was known as the "Sage of Beauvoir," as I was blind in my later years and resided at that Confederate Soldiers home in Biloxi. I joined the Shieldsborough Rifles on June 29, 1861 and served in Company F of the Third Mississippi Infantry.

I had the honor of being interviewed by writer Joe Posey and had a story published in the New Orleans Picayune on Sunday, May 7, 1922. Even though I was blind, in that interview, I recalled the homes and the owners' names from Lakeshore to Old Chimney (Long Beach) that were along the beach prior to the Civil War.

Let me tell you about my grandfather Juan Cuevas, he was born Mar. 16, 1762 in the state of Malaga Province of Andalusia, Spain and died Sept. 24, 1849. He was buried at Cat Island and later was laid to rest in the Biloxi cemetery.

My grandfather married Marie Helene Ladner in 1795, and she died on Oct. 10, 1853. She was the daughter of Christian Ladner and between her family and my grandfather's, it is estimated there are some 63,000 descendants.

My grandfather was a very brave man and a veteran of the Battle of New Orleans in 1812. For his support to General Andrew Jackson he received Cat Island as a grant from the President of the United States.

I can recall a party given at Cat Island by my grandfather in 1844. People came from Old Chimney, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Rotten Bayou, about six boat loads.

Great preparations were made with the stuffing and baking of chickens, geese, ducks, pigs and other good foods. There was fine liquors, whiskey, cakes, candies and fine things.

There was 100 pounds of rock candy, gum-drops filled with liquor, etc. Well they danced and danced, backstep, frontstep, fandango, reel, cotillion, waltz, polka, two-step polka.

They danced by fiddle, and when one set of musicians tired, others took their place. No one got drunk. This party lasted eight days and nights.

Cat Island had a great shipyard, and my father had a sloop built there of 45 foot keel, it cost $3,000, and the cabin, deck, etc., was of hardwood. It was called the Creole of Cat Island.

My grandfather had a brother, John Joseph Cuevas, who lived on Deer Island, 1/4 mile from Biloxi, and I enjoyed visiting there. I was a bad little boy, and with my cousins we would run the cows and deer into the water to watch them swim.

I remember a lot of us boys used to swim out to the Creole in the Bay and hang onto the rudder as she came in, but the captain found out and reported it to our parents, and well — we never did it again.

There were two priests on the Coast, one in Shieldsborough and another at Biloxi, they would come to Cat Island about once a month.

There were two physicians in Shieldsborough. Indians were all over Hancock County. There were fine steamboats, making daily trips from New Orleans.

My father's uncle, Francois Cuevas' descendants deeded the 40 acres of the Rotten Bayou Cemetery to the county.

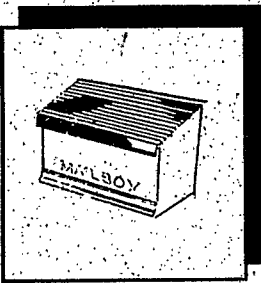

I have a son and granddaughter buried in this cemetery, and grandsons buried at Rotten Bayou, at St. Mary's and at Waveland cemeteries and other relatives buried in every public cemetery along the Coast."

I hope you enjoyed a bit of history of our coastal area.

The United Way is supported by Kmart corporately and also by Waveland's Kmart each year. The local store's 1995 campaign recently kicked off. Among those attending were, from left, Paul McElveen, store manager; Noel Tauzin, hardware manager; and Exice Ryan, who was the first associate to turn in her pledge. Tauzin is also a loan executive from Kmart to the United Way of South Mississippi's campaign. The goal for the United Way of South Mississippi's 1995 campaign now underway is $1,500,000. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Jubilee unhappy with Echo reporting

Dear Editor:

Up until now we had been pretty much resigned to shake our heads in wonderment at the inaccurate texts and misleading headlines as you printed your stories about Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino.

But today's story (Sunday, Oct. 29) with the headline "Jubilee To Leave Anxieties in Wake" finally pushed our irritation buttons. We try to save getting mad about things that are really important; reporter Ed Lepoma's stories continue to be just an irritation.

How many stories has reporter Lepoma and The Sea Coast Echo written about:

— The thirty million dollars we have paid out in payroll, most of it to employees who live in Hancock County.

— The 7.6 million dollars we have paid in gaming taxes and licenses, with 2.6 million dollars going to Hancock County.

— The twenty-two million dollars in other expenditures we have pumped into the economy, much of it directly into Hancock County.

The answer is, of course, none.

We all know the reasons: Good news might not sell as many newspapers. As well, these kinds of stories would require that someone leave the comfort of their chair and do some research.

Unfortunately lazy reporters come by the truckload, because it's just easier to print attention-grabbing headlines that don't happen to stand up in the story, or headlines that end with a question mark, so the answer doesn't have to stand up in the story.

But human nature being what it is, no matter how many times the headlines in the Star of National Enquirer about the Elvis sightings, or the capture of a three-headed man from Mars, don't come true, we are all just natural born suckers for a juicy headline.

Up to a point. Reporter Lepoma's stories have crossed the line from just being silly never come true tabloid stuff to today's story which is just mean spirited. I must ask you, Mr. Cuevas, is it that important to you to sell a newspaper at any cost? That you don't care if you add to the anxieties of the Bayou Caddy's Jubilee employees by suggesting in every issue that the sky may be falling?

At least Chicken Little had the courage of conviction to definitively declare that "The sky is falling!" Of course, as we all know, Chicken Little's ill-researched story was no doubt responsible for her propensity to go off-half-cooked.

On Monday, Oct. 23, management met with all of our family of employees and, in the spirit of a town hall meeting, discussed what was really going to happen, and to the best of knowledge, when.

We came away from those meetings with the feeling that they knew that their best source for information is from their working home, their company.

After working our way through this letter to you, our feeling of irritation has evolved into a different emotion: disappointment.

Disappointment that you would allow to continue these distorted and always inaccurate stories and misleading headlines, which are clearly an attempt to undermine the morale and confidence of our family of employees.

These good people are breadwinners and taxpayers who work, and for the most part, live in Hancock County and they know, as we do, that we will come back... stronger than ever.

The employee family of the Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino buys a significant part of the bread that fills the cupboards of the owners and employees of The Sea Coast Echo, and they deserve better from all of you.

Sincerely,
Thomas W. Aro

Spanish Acres resident upset with Halloween trash

To the people of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County:

I am truly disgusted with all of you who come into our subdivision and to what you all do every year, totally trash it.

We are nice enough to let you come into our private homes and serve you with respect, and look what you all do, throw all your trash, like beer cans, drinking glasses and paper all over the place.

Did your parents raise you with respect or disregard for the human race?

This is my home, and I don't like all the trash and mischief you all do to the community every year at Halloween.

Opinion

Economic development needs to be diversified

Like a love affair gone sour, the Jubilee Casino sailed into the darkness Saturday night, with many of its former patrons on hand to watch.

The Jubilee's departure means lost revenue for the county, and temporarily no jobs for an estimated 500-600 employees.

Although officials maintain a smaller boat will eventually be moored at the old Jubilee berth, the casino's departure should awaken county and city officials to the hazards of pinning all of their economic dreams on one industry.

Gaming is not a panacea for the county's economic woes. A requisite for Hancock County to thrive and reach its potential is diversification of its economic base. Gaming should be only one tenet of a broad-based economy that includes tourism, shipping and light manufacturing.

This area is not designed, nor suitable, to be a mecca for heavy industry. But given the county's assets, including its proximity to New Orleans and the Sound as its southern border, there is no reason to rely solely on gaming for its economic well-being.

As has already been witnessed, dependence on gaming can only lead to economic heartbreak. Stennis International Airport sits idle today because Casino Magic has taken its business elsewhere.

But there are other pitfalls:

— There appears to be little stability in the gaming industry. New Orleans is a prime example.

When Louisiana legalized gambling, several boats quickly dotted the Mississippi River, offering patrons a "dream." Now, most are closed, and Harrah's, the only land-based casino, is woefully short of revenue projections. Thus, New Orleans faces a tremendous budget shortfall.

As Jubilee employees painfully are aware, casinos can pull anchor and sail with little more than a moment's notice.

— Service-related gaming positions are traditionally low-paying. Consequently, impact on a city's or county's economy is questionable.

— Many of the casino's customers are people who can ill afford to lose money. Once hooked in, many are unable to walk away from the gambling rush.

Jobs are lost, and families often split. Instead of an economic stimulus, gaming will often feed the rolls of the unemployed and those in need of public assistance.

Finally, the temptation of a community to rely strictly on gaming is often too great to overcome. Bay St. Louis is one such city.

Bay City Council members appear content to let Casino Magic fill its coffers. They repeatedly discourage any new investments in the city. It has become obvious city leaders are happy to become an economic island surrounded by the casino's futile waters.

If the Magic decided to depart for waters elsewhere, however, the result would be devastating for Bay St. Louis. It would take years to overcome such a loss.

In this area, Waveland has the most sound economic base. With little money derived from casino revenues, the city's fathers continually seek new investors. Thus, in the last year, two new grocery stores and a fast food chain have opened its doors in Waveland.

Another restaurant in Waveland will soon follow.

The Jubilee's departure is sad for not only those who temporarily lost their jobs, but to a county dependent on its revenue. But instead of a negative, county leaders should view this setback as a challenge to create a more multi-faceted, and financially sound economy.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

The number of people in jail, on probation or on parole in the U.S. nearly tripled in the last 15 years, pressuring already overcrowded prisons and pushing up use of probation and parole, even though these are no longer used in some places.

With almost 1.5 million people in jail and 3.6 million on probation or parole, it is time to do something radical and both politically and business-wise unacceptable: institute a Communal Rehabilitation Center for the entire U.S.A.

As things are now, expenses to each city for adequate jail space are more than most city budgets can bear. Very difficult budgetary choices must sometimes be made between law enforcement and other necessary services to the city.

The predictable result is that

Original scripts needed

All local playwrights are invited to submit their one-act play scripts to the Slidell Little Theatre One-Act Festival. Planned for the Spring of 1996, the festival will produce unproduced short plays by local authors. The theatre is searching for original scripts at this time.

The program is funded in part through a local partnership program of the Commission on the Arts, an agency of the City of Slidell, and in part by the Louisiana State Arts Council and the National Endowment of the Arts, to support the development of cultural services in our community.

The length of the play should not exceed 30 minutes. Preferred running time is 12 to 20 minutes. All submissions meeting guidelines will receive a reading by a panel of judges. It is the hope of Slidell Little Theatre to produce a number of quality scripts.

Scripts should be submitted in the customary manuscript format. The author should enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if the manuscript is to be returned. Scripts should be submitted through Dec. 15. Scripts should be mailed to Slidell Little Theatre, Attn: Jack Cerny, P.O. Box 969, Slidell, LA 70459. For information, call Cerny at 504-649-7692.

law enforcement is generally undersubsidized, and many criminals are on the streets because of insufficient jail space. Jails are an eyesore and a cause of uneasiness to the inhabitants of most cities.

If we would construct a Communal Rehabilitation Center for the entire country somewhere in the badlands of the western U.S., the facility would be far removed from any inhabited area and from any area of real estate worth.

A multi-area, multi-building, expandable compound would have graduated facilities: one housing the most dangerous criminals; another housing the intermediate criminals; the other housing unhardened, readily correctable criminals.

Such a country-wide Communal Rehabilitation Center would eliminate all other city, county, state and federal jails, except the barest holding facilities for temporary needs.

By combining construction, equipment and utilities into one facility, all law enforcement expenses would be reduced enormously at the city, county, state and federal levels.

Perhaps as little as a quarter — maybe less — of the local law enforcement budget money from each U.S. community would enable the federal government to build and maintain a National Communal Rehabilitation Center.

Once the communal rehabilitation center has been constructed, it will be possible to reduce the amount of law enforcement dollars being sent in by each community. Those freed-up local dollars would greatly benefit locals and everyone.

With a federal facility of near unlimited capacity, crowded local and state prisons would be a thing of the past. So would be many thousands of criminals who are on the streets for lack of jail space to keep them behind bars.

Many crimes are committed by recidivists, and most crimes are committed by a very small proportion of the population.

A national facility would send an unmistakable message to the entire U.S. populace that

A city of criminals

Pensacola Air Show slated for Nov. 10-11

The Navy's Flight Demonstration Squadron, the Blue Angels, are to perform their final shows of the 1995 season at Naval Air Station Pensacola on Nov. 10-11. The shows are gearing up to be "bigger, faster and louder," than previous shows.

In addition to the world famous Blue Angels F/A18 "Hornets" performances, the Blue Angels' C-130 "Hercules" transport, also known as "Flat Albert," will demonstrate a jet-assisted take off with the help of eight solid-fueled rockets.

Other military highlights include an F-14 Tomcat, F-15 Eagle and an A-10 Thunderbolt.

Both days will include spectacular aerial acrobatics by performers such as Vaughn Olson in his Contel Cellular-sponsored F4U "Corsair," the first single engine fighter to exceed 400 mph in level flight.

Other performances include Sean Tucker in the 1-800-COLLECT Challenger, a 350+ "top secret" horsepower Pitts S-2S, and Jan Collmer in the "Fina Special," a high performance Pitts S-2B. Don Johnson will pilot the Rebel 300 "Toyota AirSports Corolla," an all-composite constructed monoplane. Federal Express will demonstrate the power of their Airbus 320, and Tom Seydel will demonstrate the awesome power of his Hawaii Eagle Jet Dragster, which has reached speeds in excess of 378 mph and is sponsored locally by Pizza Hut.

In addition, numerous military and civilian aircraft will be on static display. Activities start at 8 a.m., with the air shows beginning at 10:30 a.m. Both air shows are open to the public. Admission and parking are free.

Areas will be reserved for the physically challenged. Food, beverages and memorabilia will be available at numerous concession stands both days. Pets and coolers are prohibited.

Security personnel and signs will direct spectators to parking near the show site. Visitors are encouraged to use the west gate (Blue Angel Parkway) to ease traffic congestion.

Bay flood insurance drops

Home and business owners in 61 communities in 31 states, including Bay St. Louis, are paying less for flood insurance as of Oct. 1, 1995, thanks to special efforts by officials to reduce future flood damage.

A reduction of at least five percent in premiums for new and existing policy holders is the result of actions taken by officials in these communities under the Community Rating System (CRS) of the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

The NFIP is administered by the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The CRS rewards communities that voluntarily take steps to reduce the risk of flooding or to increase the effectiveness of flood insurance protection that go beyond those actions required for participation in the NFIP. Such activities can fall under one or more of the following categories: Mapping and Regulations; Flood Damage Reduction; Flood Preparedness; and Public Awareness.

Premium reductions that result from these CRS activities range in five percent increments from five percent to 45 percent. A community rated as Class Nine receives a five percent reduction, for example, while a community rated Class

Eight will have premiums reduced 10 percent, and so on.

Today, FIA Administrator Elaine A. McReynolds praised these communities, saying, "They have earned the CRS's award of both lower flood insurance premiums and peace of mind. Thanks to the efforts of their local officials, they should experience less flood damage in the future."

More than three million flood insurance policies are currently in force in the more than 18,000 communities that participate in the NFIP, representing more than $300 billion worth of coverage. Nearly 900 communities now benefit from the Community Rating System.

Work begins

Construction began this week on an elevated walkway that will link the St. Stanislaus College campus to its beach fishing pier. Workers with George P. Hopkins Construction Co., Gulfport began excavating before building the concrete ramp that will be elevated 17 feet over Beach Blvd. Another contractor will complete the wooden pier on the campus and beach side. Total cost of the project is estimated at $90,000, according to St. Stanislaus President Brother Donnan Berry, S.C. (Photo by Ed Lepoma)

Miss. water projects approved by House of Representatives

From a flood prevention study along the coastal counties to a multi-million dollar dredging project at the Port of Pascagoula, South Mississippi is set to receive $9.2 million to improve the state's future prosperity, announced U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor.

The U.S. House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved the Fiscal Year 1996 Energy and Water Development Appropriations conference report (H.R. 1905).

This conference report was completed after the House and Senate conferees reached a compromise on differences in their versions of the Energy and Water Appropriations bill.

Taylor, who has pushed to see that the programs were funded, said the bill provides $9.2 million for projects up and down the Coast.

A large percentage of the funds appropriated for the Coast will be directed toward port and harbor dredging projects. Taylor said he was pleased the bill included the remaining funds for Phase I of the Port of Pascagoula's Channel and Harbor Deep Draft Navigation Project.

Pascagoula's Deep Draft Navigation Project received $2.8 million, while an additional $3 million was allocated for routine maintenance dredging of the channel.

Flooding problems in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties will also be addressed. The Army Corps of Engineers will conduct a $62,000 study to find solutions for those residents of the tri-county area who experience major flooding during heavy downpours.

The bill also sets aside $2.9 million for the operation and maintenance of the Gulfport Harbor. Biloxi Harbor gets $461,000 for its routine operation and maintenance dredging efforts.

doctor and one nurse that patients are getting the same quality care they had when we had two doctors and a full staff here," she said.

Aimee said she and former Board member, Gulfport attorney Joe Hudson were appointed by the nine-member Coastal Board of Directors to study an offer made by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to reopen its clinic in Bay St. Louis, which was shut down on Sept. 30.

Aimee said late Wednesday that she and Hudson planned a tour soon of the old Health Department Building on Dunbar Avenue, which supervisors have offered Coastal rent-free. She said they would not have recommendations for supervisors when they meet in regular session Nov. 6.

"We need to tour the place, and see if we need to renovate it to suit our needs. And, we want to get a cost estimate on that,"

and need an understanding on who would pay for any repairs or upgrading," Aimee said.

Aimee said they also needed estimates on what it would cost to provide one fulltime physician, one nurse and a secretary for the clinic, and the cost of utilities.

Supervisors have also promised to continue a $10,000 annual appropriation to Coastal if the clinic reopens its doors, but the real sticking point seems to be finding a fulltime physician to handle the estimated 2,500 Hancock county poor and indigent who might seek medical aid.

That position would require the physician to be associated with the Hancock County Medical Center staff, and be on call rotation. Hospital officials have promised to develop backup support in the event the physician hired is ill or needs a vacation.

Coastal's Board of Directors decided last September to close its Hancock Clinic, as part of efforts to trim $1.2 million from its overall operating budget to run its clinics in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

Coastal also eliminated obstetrical care and gynecological services and reduced dental services at its remaining clinics as part of its cost-cutting efforts.

In previous meetings with supervisors and others, Shañks said Coastal's total patient load grew from 16,172 patients in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson County in 1990 to 27,065 in 1994.

She said Hancock's 2,500 patients represented only nine percent of the patients served, but the annual cost of maintaining a clinic in the county was $500,000, representing 16 percent of Coastal's annual budget.

Coastal is partially funded by a $3 million grant from the Public Health Service, and generates another $4 million in annual revenues from reimbursement from Medicare and Medicaid and sliding fees it charges patients, according to their ability to pay.

Since its closure here, Hancock County residents, as far

Clerk Vikki Goff, McDonald said he had received numerous telephone calls and had met with many citizens who opposed both ordinances in their present forms.

He said he felt both ordinances in their present forms were "not placed before the public with adequate time for comments and objections" before their passage.

McDonald said he also received many complaints that the ordinances "would be too restrictive and unduly restrict private property rights."

On the sign ordinance, McDonald said, "Everybody agrees we need one. But, the key word here is fair. I want to adopt one that's fair to everyone."

The Mayor said he planned to "go into the field myself, and check on every sign that's in the historical district."

Downtown merchants came to the Board of Aldermen's meeting Oct. 17, specifically to complain that the sign ordinance would hurt their businesses because they couldn't attract motorists traveling busy Highway 90.

As adopted, the ordinance would prohibit some businesses from erecting signs on land they own or lease between Scenic Drive and Hwy 90. Those that have signs there now might have been forced to take them down.

Businesses in the historic district would also be limited to one sign on their premises.

McDonald said he has not yet decided, "but, I'm leaning toward appointing a committee" to write new legislation dealing with signage and historical preservation.

"It might not include merchants, and it might not include the Historical Preservation people," he said.

"I just want to get the feeling of the people, in general," he said.

McDonald said he would not decide what course of action to take "until after the holidays and the new year is here."

In the meantime, he said the city is protected by current zoning laws which pertain to signage and historical preservation.

The sign ordinance was championed by Ward 2 Alderman Margaret Jean Kalif, and passed by a 3-2 vote. Kalif was supported by Ward 1 Alderman Jeff Emerson and Ward 4 Alderman Ronnie Bodenschatz.

Alderman-at-Large Gene Rogers and Ward 1 Alderman Michael Antoine asked to delay the sign ordinance, then voted against when the measure was pushed to a vote.

Only Antoine voted against the historical preservation ordinance, but didn't give his reasons for the nay vote.

It would take four votes of the Board of Aldermen to override the mayor's veto.

1995 Edition of Federal Benefits

The 1995 edition of one of the government's most popular publications entitled Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents is now available. This best selling handbook describes the wide range of benefits available to all veterans and their dependents.

Eligibility requirements, the important timetable for benefits, and where and how to apply for benefits, are described in detail.

Education and training benefits including the GI Bill, job training, vocational rehabilitation and employment assistance are covered extensively. Other major sections describe

VA loans for home buying, life insurance, disability benefits, health care, death benefits and other benefits for survivors.

All VA facilities where veterans can go for assistance including VA hospitals, nursing homes, clinics, vet centers where counseling is available, and treatment centers for alcohol and drug dependence are listed with addresses and telephone numbers.

The location of all Veterans Administration national cemeteries is also provided along with important information on burial, burial flags and Presidential Memorial Certificates.

Other topics of interest to veterans, including discharge records, medals and awards, correction of military records and the new U.S. Court of Veterans Appeals are described.

The new 1995 edition of Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents is a must for all veterans and their dependents. This popular handbook may be of particular interest to recent veterans of Somalia, Desert Storm, Haiti and Panama.

Taylor announces $55.9 million contract for Ingalls Shipbuilding

The U.S. Department of the Navy has awarded Ingalls Shipbuilding in Pascagoula a $55,880,342 contract for Planning Yard Services in support of Navy ships, announced Congressman Gene Taylor.

Taylor said the contract provides for support work of CG 47 Aegis-Class cruisers, DD 963 Spruance-Class destroyers and DDG 993 Kidd-Class destroyers.

Taylor, a strong supporter of the shipbuilding industry, said he was extremely pleased in the Navy's decision to award the $55 million defense contract to Ingalls.

"Increased work at Ingalls is vital to South Mississippi because it helps the shipyard maintain its workforce," said Taylor. "For the Navy, work at Ingalls means another quality vessel and continued sound workmanship for our nation's defense."

Work at the Pascagoula shipyard is expected to be complete by Sept. 30, 1996.

Marine graduation

Private First Class Morice A. Steber, a graduate of Bay High School, officially earned the title United States Marine during recent graduation ceremonies at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. PFC Steber will serve four years in the Marine Corps as an infantry specialist.

Begin at the beginning ... in the schools. Drugs are behind most of this country's crime problems. We have to prevent the problem early with a comprehensive drug, alcohol and gang awareness program in the schools.

Crime won't wait, and neither should you. In law enforcement with the right kind of 24 hour patrol, we can be there when you need us.

Training to be the best. When a deputy arrives he needs to know what to do. Since an officer is usually first to arrive, all deputies will be trained in emergency medical procedures.

A new county, a new sheriff. Hancock is one of the fastest growing counties in the state. It's time for a change.

RONALD E. CUEVAS

Supervisor

District 2

A Message to the Voters of District 2

As we approach the final days of the campaign, it is necessary for us to decide on the candidate we feel best qualified to resolve the issues for the next four years. In making our decision, I feel a fundamental quality that should be looked for is experience.

I am the only candidate for Supervisor of District 2 who can offer 25 years of successful business experience and 4 1/2 years as Supervisor of District 2, thus allowing me to immediately become an effective member of the Board of Supervisors. Not only understanding the difficult structure and complexity of our 17 million dollar budget, but understanding the internal structure of County government to include the Unit System.

In my campaign, I have tried to meet each of you personally. If for some reason I did not meet you, I would like to take this opportunity to ask for not only your vote, but your support in the Nov. 7th general election.

Please remember to VOTE. Your vote is the only voice you have in government.

mandated a special election. "It's been rough," Seymour admitted. "We had to change our game plan."

"But it just made me work harder," he added. "I'm willing to make whatever sacrifices it takes."

Although Williams lost the runoff, he said he had no regrets about perusing legal avenues to force the special election.

"This will make a change in our election process," he predicted. "We will see new rules to go by."

He added the voters in District 4 had a chance to "make a change" but instead, sent a "signal to business and industry" that the citizens "are not ready for a change in the way we do business in the very near future."

Seymour easily carried the Bay St. Louis city precincts. In South Bay, he outpolled Williams, 274-95, and at City Hall, 183-32.

Williams carried West Shoreline by a 90-64 margin, but lost in Kiln West, 90-24.

Experts predicted low voter turnout but the 852 votes cast surprised most. The Aug. 29 runoff drew 884 voters, and the Aug. 7 primary 1,181.

"I was surprised and glad to see such a high voter turnout," Seymour said.

who were "very scared," were sent back to Louisiana.

The Logtown Cemetery is located on the Pearl River and is located in the Buffer Zone.

Deputies responding to the incident included Hoda, Tim Broder, Norman Willette, Ron Borja and Tommy Powell.

Rotary luncheon meeting

The Diamondhead Rotary Club is having a luncheon meeting Nov. 9 at noon at the Days Inn in Diamondhead to celebrate Veterans Day.

The program will be devoted to Armistice Day and will have representatives from each branch of the service. The program will have information and stories of veterans from the beginning of our history to the present.

The opening prayer and benediction will be given by the Rev. Paul Richards from Diamondhead Community Church and the Rev. Linda Lowry from St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Diamondhead.

James Williams, who is in charge of the program, has said there will also be a representative from the Battle of Iwo Jima.

All veterans are welcome to this program dedicated to veterans in the services of the United States.

belonged to the victim. Peterson added that he believes the body to have been buried for two to three months.

"There were no bullet holes in the skull," Peterson said. "At this time, there is no indication to the cause of death."

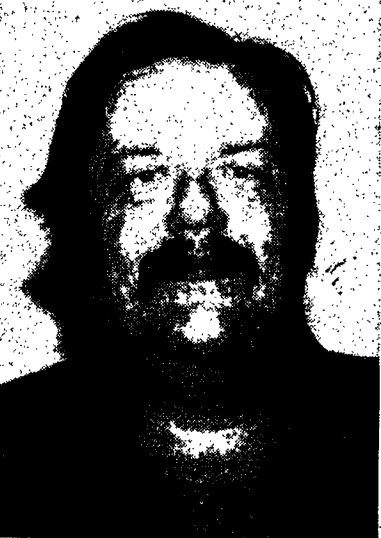

He said law enforcement agencies in Harrison County and Louisiana have been notified.

Peterson admitted the chances of solving such a mysterious case "are slim," but added if an identification is made, then chances are much higher.

"There is no question that this definitely foul play," Peterson said. "Someone went to the trouble of burying the person after killing him."

In an unrelated matter, Peterson said three officers arrested for extortion Saturday were all free on $100,000 bond. Peterson said James Whitson posted a property bond. He said Terry Eley and David Parker posted bonds through a bonding company.

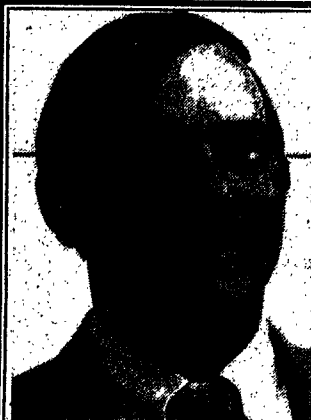

The sheriff said no preliminary hearing date has been set.

College Football Highlights

For Nov. 4

If Florida State quarterback Danny Kanell is up to his usual aerial tricks Thursday night in Virginia's Scott Stadium, the Seminoles will get their fourth straight win against the Cavaliers without much of a struggle.

In last year's game in Tallahassee, Fla., Kanell completed 32 of 48 passes for 330 yards as FSU dispatched Virginia 41-17. Once again, the Cavaliers' strength is their rushing defense, so unless their secondary, too, rises to the occasion, it'll be a long night in Charlottesville, and the gap between these two teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference will widen.

In the don't-judge-us-by-our-recent-past department, we're picking Northwestern to beat Penn State by one point at home in Evanston, Ill. In '94 the Wildcats finished a dismal 3-7-1 season with a 45-17 drubbing at the hands of then-second-ranked Penn State in State College, Pa., a game the Nittany Lions led 38-3 at the half after four Northwestern turnovers and a deflected punt. In '93 Penn State ended Northwestern's 2-9 season with a 43-21 rout. This year it's the Wildcats' turn — and their season is far from over.

Another team hoping to avenge a mistake-riddled '94 loss is Oklahoma, which visits Kansas State. Last year in Norman, Okla., K-State beat the Sooners 37-20, forcing five turnovers, a blocked punt, a fumbled punt return and a botched conversion attempt that resulted in two points for the Wildcats. It was the first time K-State had beaten Oklahoma twice in a row since 1969-70.

This week's game will be closer, but Kansas State should defeat Oklahoma for the third straight time, something the Wildcats haven't done since 1925-27.

One of the best games in the West will be another case of hoped-for revenge that falls short, when Oregon faces Washington in Seattle. Husky QB Damon Huard has been throwing well this year, as expected, but he hasn't forgotten a pass he threw last year in Eugene, Ore.

With 49 seconds left and the Ducks leading Washington 24-20, the Huskies had a first-and-goal on the Oregon 8-yard line, but Duck freshman safety Kenny Wheaton intercepted Huard's sideline pass and returned it 97 yards for a TD as Oregon stunned then-ninth-ranked Washington 31-20. This year a four-point Oregon win won't be as big a surprise.

Our forecasting average is inching back up. Through Oct. 21 we've picked 1,181 games right and 415 wrong (with 33 ties), a percentage of .740.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Nov. 5-6

*Atlanta, 25—Detroit, 22
(Sunday) Despite their defense — one of the NFL's weakest — the Falcons should manage to end a six-game losing streak against the Lions that dates back to 1987 and includes a 31-28 loss in OT last year.

*Chicago, 27—Pittsburgh, 23
The AFC Central looks as black and blue as the NFC Central, so this could be a great matchup, with the edge going to the Bears' Erik Kramer-led offense. Chicago beat the Steelers in '92, 30-6.

*Cleveland, 18—Houston 13
In Week Three, the Browns mounted only one drive longer than 28 yards against the Oilers' stingy defense, but it ended with a TD, and that was enough for a 14-7 win. Expect more of the same.

*Denver, 31—Arizona, 15
In '94 The Cardinals were stopping opposing offenses and might have been a match for the Broncos, but now Arizona gets no help from its anemic defense. Denver has never lost to the Cardinals.

*Indianapolis, 28—Buffalo, 21
Holding off the Colts' last-minute comeback seven weeks ago, the Bills beat Indianapolis 20-14. But it's clear that the Colts are capable of whipping not only Buffalo but just about anybody.

*Kansas City, 29—Washington, 23
The Chiefs have won three of their four games with the Redskins, most recently 35-16 in K.C. in '92. The Chiefs' offense isn't quite as good as their record, so Washington should stay close.

Miami, 26—San Diego, 24
Against the Chargers' solid defense, the Dolphins won't score at will, but they'll score enough. These teams last met in a '94 divisional playoff in S.D., when the Chargers edged Miami 22-21.

*Minnesota, 27—Green Bay, 26
Two weeks ago in Green Bay, Brett Favre threw four TD passes to lead the Packers over the Vikings 38-21. Now Minnesota is desperate for a win, and G.B. hasn't beaten the Vikes twice since '88.

New England, 20—N.Y. Jets, 17
Though the Patriots have fallen even farther than the Jets since last year, they're still the better team. Last year the Jets won 24-17 in N.Y., then N.E. evened things up in Foxboro, 24-13.

Oakland, 32—Cincinnati, 28
This game could be a wild one, because the Bengals' offense can be as explosive as the Raiders' — just ask the Steelers. They haven't met since Cincinnati beat the Raiders 16-10 two years ago.

St. Louis, 24—New Orleans, 19
In their first game in St. Louis eight weeks ago, the Rams sacked Jim Everett five times on the way to a 17-13 win over the Saints. They'll sweep this series for the first time in 11 years.

San Francisco, 36—Carolina, 14
Here's some symbolically relevant trivia about this matchup: The 49ers and Panthers are the NFL's most distant divisional rivalry, 270 miles apart. The score will reflect more than jet lag.

Seattle, 22—N.Y. Giants, 20
The Seahawks have found a consistent QB in Rick Mirer while the Giants are still looking, but N.Y. may play like a real team against the Seahawks' pitiful defense. They haven't met since '92.

Dallas, 30—Philadelphia, 21
(Monday) The Eagles' defense has been stellar, and they'll need it to keep this game from getting away. Dallas beat Philly 24-13 and 31-19 last year, its fifth and sixth straight wins over the Eagles.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1995-3B

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Richard Meek

Nestled among the marshes bordering the Bay of St. Louis, the golf landscape of Hancock County is changing.

Arnold Palmer's 7,000-yard creation, which features more doglegs than the Humane Society, is rapidly taking shape. By next fall, the Casino Magic course, much delayed in its construction, should finally open.

"This will be a fun course to play," Palmer said Monday as he toured the site.

"There will be a lot of water but it will be a user friendly course," he said. "There is no particular trademark to the layout."

The layout does, however, place a premium on placement. The course is not particularly long, only 6,575 yards from the blue tees and 6,252 from the whites, so long-hitters may want to leave the driver in the trunk.

Accuracy will determine score. Seventeen lakes dot the course, and 14 acres of wetlands await errant shots.

On paper, the layout looks challenging, although several of the holes are similar in design.

Palmer said painful lessons learned from construction of The Bluffs in St. Francisville, La., are serving him well in Bay St. Louis. The Bluffs, one of the more spectacular courses in the entire South, experienced problems with sinkage, causing tees and even a sand trap to sink back into the water. However, those problems have been remedied, and Palmer is making sure similar maladies do not happen here.

"We could not forecast what happened at The Bluffs," he said. "But you learn something from every course you build."

Palmer, who has become one of the country's premiere designers, said he enjoys the design business.

"It's even more fun playing

Magical course

when the course is finished," said Palmer, perhaps the game's greatest ambassadors. He said each course he builds, Palmer currently has over 30 in some form of development, serves as a testimony to him.

"Long after I'm gone, the course will be here," he said, nodding to what will soon be the Magic development.

Palmer said the futile marshland surrounding the Magic course will be better off after construction is complete than before.

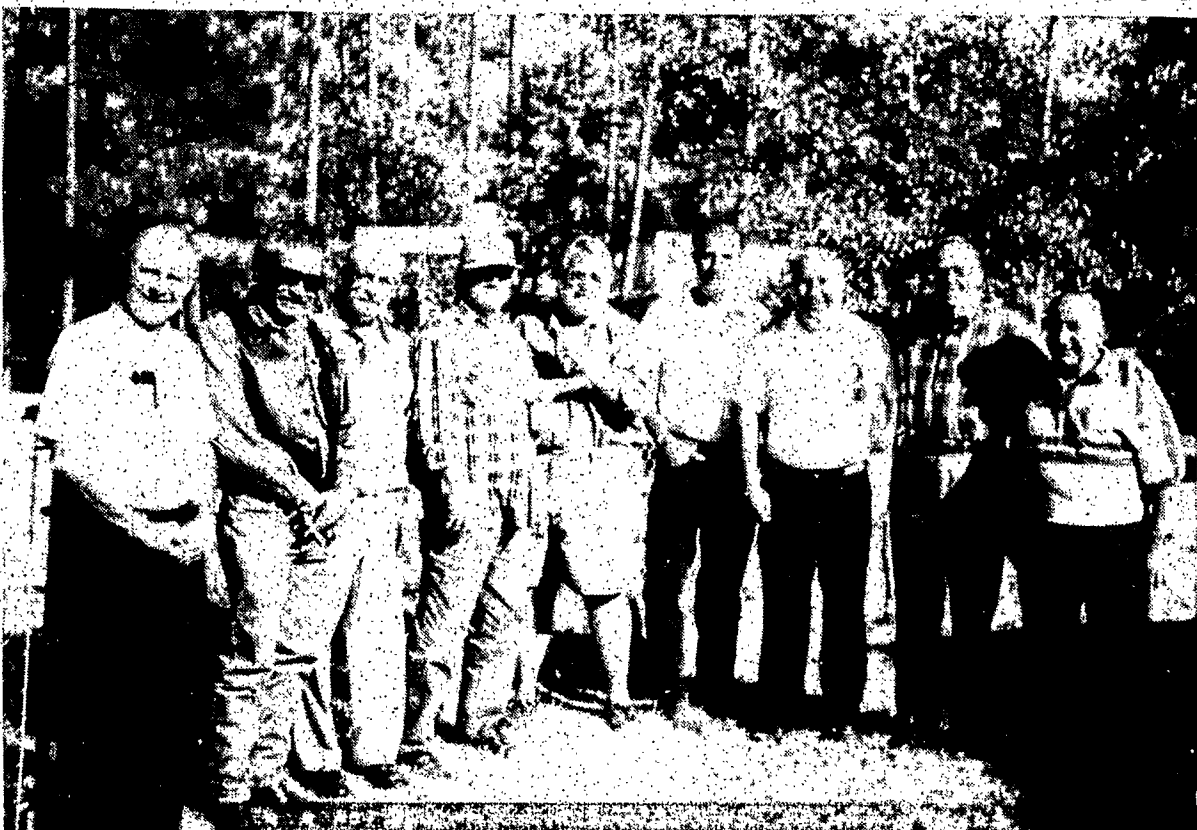

"This is spectacular wetlands," he said. "We have provided for the wetlands to come into play where we could. We are doing things to protect every aspect of the environment."

"We are providing the area with something beautiful."

Just stock up on water balls.

Youth hunt set for Nov. 4

Some good things are happening around Mississippi this fall for young hunters.

The Wolf River Wildlife Management Area will have a gun hunt for antlerless deer and legal bucks just for youth on Nov. 4, according to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Youth hunters must be 8-15 years or older during the hunt. All youth hunters must check in at the area headquarters prior to hunting.

Centerfire rifles, shotguns with slugs or buckshot and handguns may be used for hunting deer during this special hunt. When hunting deer with a handgun, no other gun may be in the hunter's possession.

All hunters hunting on the Wolf River WMA during the youth deer hunt must wear in full view a minimum of 500 square inches of solid, unbroken, continuous daylight fluorescent hunter orange material while hunting.

On the day of the youth hunt, archery hunting for deer will not be permitted on the area.

The Wolf River WMA is located in Lamar and Pearl River counties.

For additional details about the hunt, call 731-1619.

Pate wins Rookie championship

Steven Pate of Ocean Springs and Jason Kilpatrick shared the front row for the start of the Rookie Championship. Pate was fresh from a win in the heat race as he lined up for the feature. As the green flag dropped he moved to the front, followed by Kilpatrick and Billy Walker. Kilpatrick suffered a spin, sending him to the rear of the field where David Scott had started from and was making a move towards the front.

As the two moved into the top three, racing side by side down the back straightaway, Scott took over the lead as they came out of turn four. His efforts were short-lived as he lost a right rear wheel and axle.

Pate moved back into the lead, followed by Kilpatrick, who on one occasion moved ahead of Pate before getting loose and bringing out a yellow sending him back to the rear. Danny Beauchamp moved into the second spot followed by Billy Walker as they came to the checkered flag.

Bubba McQueen and Jamie Luzenberg lead the 15-car Pro Stock lineup to the checkers. Luzenberg moved out to a comfortable lead and appeared to be headed for another win before his car began to give off smoke.

Bass often relate to specific key spots on cover

If you see a promising piece of bass cover like a log or brushpile, your very first cast should be right where you think a bass will be. Don't waste time working the edge of that cover.

So says veteran bass fishing guide and tournament angler Randy Dearman, who believes the best chance of catching any bass is always on your first cast.

"Every presentation you make can cause a bass to become more wary and reluctant to hit," says the Johnson Outboard Pro Staff angler. "The majority of all strikes are simply by reflex, and your best chance to get that type of strike is nearly always on the first try."

Dearman believes every piece of cover has one key spot bass relate to more than the others. This certain place is not always in the thickest part of the cover, either.

"Many different factors can determine where bass will be," he says. "For instance, strong current may position bass behind the cover until the current flow slackens. Rising water will often push bass closer to the shoreline, even when they're holding on a single fallen tree, while falling water often pulls them further out to the end of that tree."

"There is absolutely no definite rule that bass will always be in a specific part of cover all the time. Once you do figure out where the fish are holding, however, it will generally hold true until conditions do change."

Dearman feels putting a lure into this key spot on the very first try is becoming more and more important because of increased fishing pressure.

"The more bass get pressured, the more they retreat and more reluctant they become to hit lures," he explains. "Each cast you make simply adds to this pressure and reluctance."

"Another problem is that the more bass are pressured, the smaller their strike zone usually becomes. The strike zone is

After a couple of laps Luzenberg had to retire to the pits with major mechanical problems ending his hopes for the win.

McQueen took over the lead as he held off a hard-charging Wallace Allen. A late-arriving Scott Holt started from the rear, but managed to work his way into the third spot behind Allen.

After several more laps of hard racing, this was the finishing order for the top three. Allen and Steven Pate Sr. both won earlier heat races.

David Allison moved to the front of the ten-car field of Four Cylinder Modifieds as the green flag came out. David Taylor gave chase, but could not reel Allison in, as he claimed an easy win over the rest of the field. Marus Jacob Jr. and Jimmy Necaise followed Taylor to the checkers. Heat winner Jamie Favre developed mechanical problems early in the race ending his hopes of a win.

Chuckie Smith and Lonnie Scarbrough led a field of 23 Street Stocks to the starting line. Smith claimed the lead on the start followed by Scarbrough and Rodney Bruce. After numerous cautions the top three remained the same as the checkers flew. Randy Deschamp and Tommy Fortenberry won earlier heat races.

Veteran driver Danny Thomas held the pole starting position alongside Verlon Lee for the start of the Late Model Sportsman Feature. Lee moved to the front as the race got under way.

Thomas developed mechanical problems causing him to fall off the pace early in the race. Lee appeared to be headed for an easy win with a comfortable lead when he got loose in turn three, allowing Jamie Odom to claim the lead on the restart.

Boogie Obiol was making a strong showing before getting loose and giving up his third spot. Lee managed to move back into the second spot, but could not move by Odom.

Odom and Lee made contact with only a couple of laps remaining, causing damage to the right side of Odom's car, but he managed to hold on for the win. This was Odom's first feature win of the season.

Olen Bounds and Howard Dempsey rounded out the top four. Lee won the earlier heat race.

This was the final night of racing for the '95 season at Sun Coast. The owners and staff would like to thank the drivers and fans for their support. Test and tune will resume the first Saturday in February with racing on the first Saturday in March.

Tide rolls over Rocks, 44-7

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

Speed kills, and that is what the Maroon Tide used in its 44-7 thrashing of the Rocks. Picayune improved to 5-4, while the Rocks fell to 3-7 on the year.

Picayune totaled 421 yards rushing as opposed to the Rocks' 169 yards rushing. Picayune's Nick Wash rushed twice for 143 yards and two TD's.

The Rocks opened the game on offense and were not able to move the ball. Picayune took over on their own 46-yard line. Carlos Bogan tore through the Rock defense for a gain of 38 yards. Two plays later, Bogan plunged in from one yard out for the score at the 6:14 mark of the first quarter. Shawn Grigsby's PAT was good, making the score 7-0.

Again the Rocks could not muster any offense and punted back to the Maroon Tide. However, the Rock defense held tough after throwing Jared Dickerson for a nine-yard loss, Picayune punted to the Rocks.

Junior runningback Corey Charles held the highlight of this Rock drive, rumbling for 16 yards and a first down before SSC punted away.

It took Picayune only two plays to score. Roderick Jackson sprinted 73 yards for the TD at the end of the first quarter. Grigsby made good on his PAT, and the score was 14-0.

The Rocks mounted a good drive that saw Charles break two runs of 12 and 18 yards for first downs before SSC turned the ball over on downs.

The Maroon Tide used their speed as Nick Wash scored on a 76-yard reverse with 5:38 to go in the first half. Grigsby made the PAT, and it was 21-0.

SSC QB Correy Gex went to the air connecting with Brad Cannon for a 14-yard gain and a first down. The Rocks ended up turning the ball over after minimal gains.

Picayune got the ball on their own 32-yard line. Maroon Tide QB Jonathan Lott went to the air hitting Wash for a 37-yard gain and a first down. Three plays later, Lott hit Greg Walls for a seven-yard score with 1:03 remaining in the half. The Maroon Tide went for two and converted making the score 29-0.

The Rocks went back to the air with Gex hitting Cannon for a gain of 51 yards down to the Picayune 19-yard line. On the next play, Gex found a wide open Charles in the endzone for a 19-yard TD strike with :42 ticks left in the half. Casey Swanson converted on the PAT making the score 29-7.

SSC tried an onside kick and Picayune recovered at their own 48-yard line. Bogan brought the Tide into Rock territory with a 13-yard gain. Next, Lott connected with Wash for 23 yards and a first down. Grigsby came on and nailed a 32-yard field goal as time expired making the score 32-7.

The second half saw Bogan take the handoff for 20 yards on the first play for Picayune. Two plays later, Wash used his speed to get outside and gallop 67 yards for the score with 9:31 left in the third quarter. Grigsby's PAT was blocked by Gex leaving the score at 38-7.

SSC's Corey Charles gained 28 yards on three straight carries before Gex was intercepted at midfield by Michael Johnson ending the drive.

Roderick Jackson gained 30 yards up the middle bringing the Tide down to the Rock seven-yard line. Two plays later, Corey Peters scored from three yards out with 3:25 remaining in the third quarter. Grigsby missed the PAT leaving the score at 44-7.

Both teams alternated offenses in the fourth quarter as the clock wound down. With 1:13 seconds left in the game, the rocks got the ball back on the Picayune 37-yard line. The Rocks drove down to the Tide four-yard line. SSC's Andy Brown fumbled as he crossed the goal line, and Picayune recovered and dashing any hopes of another SSC score.

SSC coach Mario Genna commented, "Picayune gives indications of what they are going to do. We did not tackle well and they were very quick. We had our shots tonight. Gex threw well, but our receivers simply dropped the balls."

"We have been playing teams that have better talent than we do. SSC has been doing the best with what we have to work with. Next week, Bay High is a big game. It is the last for our seniors. It is a big rivalry and anything can happen."

Charles rushed 23 times for 139 yards and one receiving TD. Gex was 3 for 14 for 84 yards with one TD and one INT.

The Rocks will travel across town for the annual grudge match with the Bay High Tigers. Game time is slated for 7:30 p.m.

November 7th, You Will Have The Right To Vote For Whomever You Want.

But A Group In Washington Wants To Take Away Your Right.

Don't Let Them; Go To The End Of Your Ballot And Vote "NO" on Initiative #4.

Initiative Measure # 4 contains an error.

It would make Mississippi the only state in the nation to limit the terms of every elected and every appointed public official. It includes school superintendents, school boards, sheriffs, police chiefs and others.* Please, Vote No. (See the list below. You or someone you know may be affected.)

Initiative Measure #4 may force good public officials out of office.

If a public official has already served two terms, they may be ruled ineligible to serve any longer. Please, Vote No.

Initiative Measure #4 is poorly written.

The Attorney General says it is unclear who is considered an appointed official. Which city, county and state employees are affected must be determined in Court. Please, Vote No.

Initiative Measure #4's supporters know it needs correcting.

Rep. Gene Saucier, a key supporter, stated at a Capitol news conference Oct. 25th: "We can come back from the Legislature... and add an amendment to correct whatever problems we have."

Please learn more about limiting all public officials and...

In an election year when other local counties were found to be wrought with voter fraud, our Hancock County Circuit Clerk's office was tested and proven to be of exemplary quality. I want to extend my personal gratitude to Circuit Clerk PAM METZLER and her staff for the efficient, professional way in which they have handled all of our elections; for the late evening hours of hard work counting ballots and, especially, for conducting the Democratic Special Election on October 31.

Congratulations, PAM, for the Supreme Court's appointment to the Mississippi Judicial Advisory Study Committee and THANKS for a job well done!
